

Reading Pictures: Seeing Stories Festival

Yorkshire and the Humber Libraries
celebrating words and pictures

SPRING
2022

Supported using public funding by
ARTS COUNCIL ENGLAND

Introduction

ASCEL (The Association of Senior Children's and Education Librarians) Yorkshire and Humber branch have worked together across the region, supported by Arts Council Funding to bring you this second festival of visual literacy. The first festival took place in 2018 and the 2022 festival builds on this success but also addresses concerns about the impact of the pandemic on children's learning and mental wellbeing.

Working with visual and creative artists and key partners of book illustrators Reading Pictures Seeing Stories will give children and young people this opportunity to meet and learn from illustrators and artists and to explore the connection between literacy and the visual arts and offer children and families not usually engaged with arts the chance to discover the power of pictures. We also hope through work with schools to help narrow the gap in children's reading ability, caused by the pandemic. We want to get arty, have creative fun and encourage children to use the library to access a world of books.

Visual literacy is the ability to see understand and interpret images, much as literacy is the ability to read and derive meaning from texts. Visual literacy is an important skill for understanding visual media that can lead to enhanced performance of other intellectual tasks and builds the ability to interpret and evaluate information and messages. From an early age children draw from their everyday observations of the world around them in order to learn. In today's visually saturated environment they must develop the skills to decode, think critically and communicate the images around them. The ability to read images can help young people to navigate and make sense of their world.

Launch Event

Wednesday 6th April 10am – 2.30pm
The Science & Media Museum, Bradford

Reading Pictures: Seeing Stories, the Yorkshire and the Humber Festival of Visual Literacy April – May 2022, will launch on Wednesday 6th April at the national Science and Media Museum, in the heart of Bradford. The Science and Media Museum offers us all the opportunity to explore the science and culture of image and sound technologies and their impact on our lives - making it a wonderful partner for the visual literacy festival www.scienceandmediamuseum.org.uk. ASCEL and the Arts Council would like to thank the museum for its generous and welcoming partnership.

Groups of children, teachers, parents, Councillors, representatives of library authorities and Arts organisations from across Yorkshire and Humberside will gather for the opening at 10am with children's illustrator Martin Impey, after which children will enjoy workshops led by Liz Million, Salma Zaman and Martin Impey and explore the exhibitions at the museum.

Salma Zaman

Salma Zaman is a multi-nominated award-winning author of children's books. The founder and artistic director of Salma's Bollywood Academy, she has appeared on Coronation Street, BBC1, BBC2, BBC3, ITV and Channel 4, and has choreographed and performed for Bollywood stars. Salma is an ambassador for several high-profile charities, including a global ambassador for the ambassador's foundation in America.

Salma is the author of 'Bollywood Princess,' 'HELP! I Can't Dance Without My Bhangra Pants,' 'Greedy Gertie and Sally and her Super Snot' which is part of 'The Sensational Super Children Series'. She is also a qualified dance and drama teacher who embeds dance choreography, movements and gestures within her children's books. Salma teaches many styles, including traditional and cultural South Asian dances ranging from Bollywood, Bhangra and Lollywood dance.

Salma won the 'Yorkshire Women of Achievement Awards' – Arts Category – 2018/2019 and she was awarded the 'Best Dancing School' for 2018 and the best inclusive 'Dancing School' for 2019.

Liz Million

Liz is an illustrator and children's author and when not illustrating and writing stories in her little studio in the North East of England, can usually be found travelling all over the country visiting primary schools, libraries and museums. During the pandemic, Liz hosted hundreds of online draw-alongs with children and families from all over the world! You can find more tutorials on Youtube and her Facebook page.

"In my drawing sessions, families explore book characters through funny shapes like potatoes, carrots, baked beans and toast! Not all of them are food related but they do help us to stop worrying and start creating some amazing artwork. Illustrator/authors start with little scribbly sketches on bits of paper, then we draw them over and over again until we get our characters right, then we think about storyboards and words. I bring my animal story characters to life by adding colour, action lines, different expressions even clothing!

My enthusiasm for art and books is infectious and you will leave feeling amazed at your own drawings and ready to do more"

Martin Impey

Martin Impey has been a freelance illustrator since 1991. His published children's books include the multi award winning WW1 Poppies Series for children, including Where The Poppies Now Grow, The Christmas Truce, Flo of the Somme & Peace Lily with award winning author Hilary Robinson. He has won numerous awards including The Historical Association Young Quills Award in 2016 and shortlisted twice for the Kate Greenway Medal.

His recent books have been widely received with critical acclaim - Dulce et Decorum Est illustrating Wilfred Owen's masterpiece and Where Once We Stood a collaboration with BAFTA and Emmy nominated film maker and author Prof Christopher Riley to tell the story of the Apollo Astronauts living and working on the lunar surface.

"I have been a freelance illustrator for the last 31 years and I've loved every minute of it. I am honoured to be taking part in the 'Reading Pictures Seeing Stories' event this year. Art is so very important for one's mental health and can be a wonderful outlet for emotion and of course storytelling."

See some of the illustrations I have created throughout my career and hear the stories behind some of them. Understand my passion for my craft and how it has shaped me and my life so far. I will be showing some artwork on screen from start to finish in time-lapse and I will be doing some drawing live too!!

Royston Library

Friday 22nd April
10am – 12pm & 2pm – 4:30pm
Hoyland Library

Work with artist Helen Boutle to create your own mini POP-UP adventure book. We'll begin by finding words, pictures and books that make us feel good, strong and positive (including 'In My Heart', by Jo Witek). Using a variety of simple pop-up techniques and special papers we'll bring our stories to life. Hot Air balloons and Mountain adventures await!

PUNK and DOODLE- Concertina Books for ages 10-16. Work with Artist Helen Boutle to create a 3D art concertina book, containing words or song lyrics that inspire you. We'll use punk style collage and doodles to decorate each page leaving some pages blank for you to add to your book of inspiration at home.

The event is free but booking is required.

Kirklees

Kirklees Libraries will be working with an illustrator to deliver closed sessions with early years settings across the authority. We will deliver quality work with groups of children of a similar age, especially those who live in an area where there isn't a library close by. We'll also be partnering with our 50 Things to do Before You're Five team.

We decided to focus our Reading Pictures Seeing Stories activities on early years as this is an age group which met with a lot of challenge even before lockdown. The most disadvantaged 5 year olds can be 19 months behind more affluent children in vocabulary development when they start school.

In Kirklees, Librarians have identified a need for support from parents and early years settings in developing strategies for introducing children to books and storytelling. And our work as a Library of Sanctuary has shown us how illustrations can bring a story to life for children for whom English is a second language.

Coalesce Dance Theatre - The Old Green Time Machine

Thursday 28th & Friday 29th April
9.30am & 1.30pm on both days
Chapelton Community Hub & Library, Hunslet Community Hub & Library, Leeds Central Library, Horsforth Community Hub & Library

The Old Green Time Machine follows the journey of two intrepid and quirky time travellers who are in a race to save the world. In a future where all living things have been destroyed and all that's left is plastic, our two adventurers find themselves on an urgent journey into the past to change the course of history. It's a shame their carbon friendly bicycle time machine has seen better days!

This show explores the importance of climate action and how we are all responsible for making positive changes to save the planet. The show is a whirlwind of contemporary dance, music, poetry and fun. With an interactive 'Stay, play and learn' session after the performance, audience members can meet the characters and stay behind for some planet saving tips and tricks, as well as games and a whole load of time traveling mischief!

Seeing Ourselves in Stories with Jason

Thursday 5 May
10.30am – 11.30pm
& 1.30pm – 3pm
Cleethorpes Library

The work produced in the workshops will be exhibited in Scunthorpe Central to be viewed by parents and public from 4.30 - 6.30pm

Jason Wilsher-Mills is an award-winning digital artist, who creates colourful sculptures, augmented reality experiences and video games, which tell the stories of his own life, as a disabled person, and the stories of disabled communities around the UK and beyond. He uses humour and many of his own biographical experiences, as a northern working class disabled person to do this. When asked what his work is about, his reply is simply, "My work is 'The Beano' meets 'I, Daniel Blake'".

Every Page A Story - Comic Workshop

Saturday 9th April
1.00pm – 3.00pm
York Explore Library and Archive

A picture can say a thousand words, but what about a single page? In this workshop, work with illustrator Olivia Northrop and learn the basics of creating a comic page and how to turn a blank piece of paper into your own short story. Whether your head is already filled with ideas, or you have a passing interest in comics, learn tips and tricks to help you on your way to telling the world your story! No prior knowledge is required, only enthusiasm for drawing and telling stories. Olivia's work has been published in indie press and has been part of multiple illustration exhibitions. She graduated from Leeds Arts University and specialises in digital illustration, with an interest in comics and character design.
