

FROM THE DESK OF

Santa Claus

Dear Children,

Elfington and Elliefington are preparing for their return to Elvington Primary School. They are being sent from the North Pole to check you are all working hard and being kind to one another.

We are about to enter the month of December and on the last night of November I will be sharing my green magic dust with your school elves. This will give them magic powers for the month. When no one else is in school, their magic powers will bring them alive! They will be able to look into classrooms to see what you have been doing.

Remember, you must never touch the elves, as they will lose their magic powers. Whilst your elves have been very carefully chosen, I have heard that they can be a little bit naughty so you may have to keep a very close eye on them!

I can't wait to hear how hard you are all working.

Lots and lots of love

Father Christmas
